Royalty or Not

I admit it! I feel so guilty! I've been cheating on the Hamtaro section! I've been to the Pucca section, Mario section, and the Regular Show section! I feel like in cheating on the Hamtaro section and I tell it to my bff's Gabby and Serena every chance I get! I apologize! I really do!

muttering I don't own Hamtaroâ€¦

He stared at her white locks as they flowed from the force of her beside fan. Her gorgeous crystal blue eyes sparkled as they stared at the TV showing one of her favorite shows. Bridezilla's had been a common every afternoon. Not including the weekends.

He could only stare at her with his mouth open. He was drooling. And he sloppily wiped it away with his orange jacket. It was to big and its sleeves were to long. But it was perfect for him.

Her white long sleeve shirt and blue mini skirt were in perfect order compared to his jeans and scruffy hair. Oh how he craved her. Craved feeling her silky smooth skin, pale pink lips, and frail arms.

She was beautiful. However, she was also royalty. He was merely a peasant. Someone not worthy of her time. Yet, she willingly gave it to him. Why she paid any attention to him was beyond his branch of comprehension.

Her bleach blonde hair was just short of the middle of her back. Her arms rose to tie in some beaded hair bands. Right section first. Then she tied her sky blue bows in. Then the left section. Then she tied her other sky blue ribbon in.

As the show ended with a joyous wedding he couldn't help but imagine it was them. Together. Sharing a kiss that connected their bond. Combining them forever.

He frowned. Then frowned further. Never gonna happen, he reminded himself.

"Well, 'Amtaro! Vee better get started on our studying if vee vant to be prepared for our test Friday!"

She leaned over him. Her left hand gripped the soft blue comforter that they were both settled on. They were both facing each other and as she reached for her math book, her face neared his. He felt his cheeks heat up as their noses touched.

She apologized and leaned around him instead. She gently blew into his ear, he shivered as her peppermint mouthwash, and gum hit him full force. Right now, he really craved his lips on hers. She leaned back again and smiled.

Oh. He would have her. He ruffled his half-orange half-white hair. And smiled toothily at her. He would have her indeed.

She would be his one day. Royalty or not.

Okay. Pure boredom. Random idea. Okay. That's a lie; I read a story in the Mario section great inspiration! Hamtaro x Bijou one-shot.
